

CRITERIA 3

Workshop on Intellectual Property Rights (IPR)

26th April 2023

The Institution's Innovation Council organised an online workshop on Intellectual Property Rights (IPR). The IPR Cell Coordinator Ms. Jyoti Saini arranged this workshop and two resource persons were invited to deliver an online lecture.

The first resource person was Dr. Vandana Thakur, Assistant Professor in the Law Department, HP University. Dr. Vandana Thakur delivered an informative lecture on the basics of IPR, including its definition, types, and importance. She highlighted the various types of IPRs such as patents, trademarks, copyrights, and trade secrets. She also explained the process of obtaining IPRs and the benefits of IPR protection for individuals, businesses, and society. Dr. Thakur emphasized the need for IPR protection to promote innovation, creativity, and economic growth. The second resource person was Dr. Divya Khurana, from the School of Law, CT University in Ludhiana. Dr. Divya Khurana, in her lecture, discussed the legal aspects of IPR and the various laws related to IPR in India. She also explained the role of the judiciary in protecting IPR and resolving disputes related to IPR. Dr. Khurana emphasized the importance of IPR protection in fostering innovation, research, and development.

The speakers kept the audience engaged in interactive sessions by answering questions and clarifying doubts.

